THE INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY-SCHOOL LESSON

FOR JULY 17, 1904. STUDIES IN THE OLD TESTAMENT.

SUBJECT: Asa's Good Reign-IL Chron. 14:1-12. GOLDEN TEXT: Help us, O Lord our God; for we rest on Theo-II. Chron. 14:11.

By Rev. J. E. Gilbert, D. D., Secretary American Society of Religious Education.

INTRODUCTION.—The history of Israel was twice written by inspired men—first by prophets in the two books of Kamuel, and in the two books of Kings, and after ward by priests in the two books of Chromicles, Ezra, Nohemiah and Isther. Both records made David the central figure. The prophets wrote to show the consequences of sin, while the priests sought to maintain the institutions of religion, of which they were the special guardians. Last quarter our lessons pertained to the northern half of the king dom, created by the rebellion unider Jeroboam, and carried into perpetual captivity in Assyria, a dreary sketch of iniquity and disaster. This quarter we shall be occupied with selected passages pertaining to the southern half of the empire, called the kingdom of Judah, which, like its sister monarchy, was destined to be overlinown. The difference between the northern and southern kingdom was sons of reform, during which the poople attained to many of the enjoined virtues and much of the consequent peace undor the Mosale conomy. One of these reforms will be considered to-day.

RECTITUDE—The Kingdom of Judah was cursed by two wicked kings, Rehoboam and Abijah, the first and the second after the division of the empire. Novertheless, for David's sake, God bore with their offenses (I Kings, xv: 3-5) and granted many favors. During the twenty-one years of their reign there was perpetual war with Israel, in an attempt to regain the revolted tribes, resulting in a measure of success, so that the sovereignty of Judah was acknowledged over many elies. A new day jawned upon the land at the death of Abijah, who was succeeded by his son, Asa (verse), a man of rectitude, who, abandoning the ways of father and grandfather, did that which was right in the slight of the Lord (verse 2.) It is not easy to account for the character of the man. If the laws of heredity were to be considered, little ought to have been expected. On the paternal side there were three generations of sin. On the maternal side we know little, save that his mo

President C. V. Meredith Calls the Club to Meet Tomorrow Night.

WILL HAVE A GRAND RALLY

John Sharp Williams and Others May Speak; Meanwhile Short Talks Are in Order.

The first gun of the presidential cama short time, under the auspices of the Murphy's Annex to-morrow night at 8:20 o'clock, to make arrangements for a big rally, to be held later on, in either the Academy or the Bilou. At this time it is believed that it can be arranged to have Hon. John Sharp Williams, the brilliant Democratic floor leader of the House, present and make an address. Mr. Williams, it is believed, will pass through the city shortly on his way North, and it will be sought to have him stop over and make an address. Ho is a powerful debater, and was a sirlking figure at the St. Louis 'Convention, over which he presided temporarily.

All Are Welcome.

All Are Welcome.

While the meeting for to-morrow night will transact the business referred to above, it will also be somewhat in the nature of a jolification gathering, and all who desire to come will be welcomed. One of the vice-presidents said last night that President Meredith would likely be asked to tell something of his experiences in the great St. Louis meeting, and that it was not unlikely that Mr. W. L. Royall might say a word as to his feeling since he returned to his "father's house." He suggested that other good speakers might make brief harmony talks, both from the gold and silver sides, and that a general love feast on a small scale was in eral love feast on a small scale was in anticipation.

anticipation.

Nearly every local Democrat one meets now-a-days is claiming the distinction of having been the only "original Parker man" in the city.

May Change Name.

May Change Name.

This lack of friction on the part of Richmond Democrats with reference to national issues is something wonderful, and nothing to equal it has been wilnesed since 1892, when the "old man of Princeton" swept the country like a cyclone. It is probable that the business meeting to-morrow night will change the name of the Parker Club to the "Parker and Davis Cub," so that it will embrace Judge Parker's running mate as well. While every one seems to feel confident that Richmond and Virginia will roll up good majorities this fall, this belief, however widespread, will not deter the local and State committees from putting up persistent battles from start to finish. When the contest opens up in earnest Chairman Ellyson will organize his forces systematically all over the State, and will likely pay perficular attention to the Ninth District, where there are strong hopes of pulling Hon, Joseph C Wysor, the Democratic nominee, through over Congressman Slemp

The Galveston Disaster.

A musical description of the Galveston disaster of a few years ago is one of the features of the number given by Steal. Doty and Coe at the Casino. The rush of the waters, the shrieks of the wind and the sounding of the fire alarm are given. The bill is one of the most varied offered at the summer theatre and while it contains only five numbers, it is made up of high-class performers. There is a matinee for to-morrow, with two more performances at night.
